

U.S. Army Soldier Support Institute Library

Copyright and Privacy Restrictions

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching criticism, commentary, or news reporting as a preservation or security copy as a research copy for deposit in another institution.

If I, the researcher, later use a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair Use," I, the researcher, am personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement and agree to indemnify the U.S. Army Soldier Support Institute Library from any legal action as a result of the error. The Soldier Support Institute's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document does not indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporations now or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the researcher separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is deceased, from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source materials. The holder of the original copyright is not necessary the Soldier Support Institute Library. The Soldier Support Institute Library is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

The Soldier Support Institute Library reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law. This institution also places restrictions on the use of cameras, photocopiers, and scanners in collection storage and exhibit areas.

I, the researcher, understand and agree to the above terms, and will indemnify, defend, save, and hold the Soldier Support Institute Library harmless from all claims, demands, losses, or damages (including attorney's fees and expenses) arising out of any legal action, settlement, or adjustment resulting from my not having followed the guidelines provided above.
